WASHINGTON STATE UNIVERSITY EXTENSION

Master Gardener Program

GET GROWING:

Introduction to Vegetable Gardening

You can grow the delicious, fresh, healthy, vegetables you've always wanted to! From seed to harvest, through hands-on, small group classes, participants will learn about soil preparation, site planning, crop selection, irrigation, pest and disease management, and more.

Emphasis is on organic methods and use of the Square Foot Garden technique. Students will receive a copy of Mel Bartholomew's All New Square Foot Gardening book and will start plants to take home.

The series includes two class sessions; an interactive classroom session and a fully hands-on greenhouse session, where participants will start their own cool and warm weather crops.

This class is geared for those with no or little experience gardening.

WHEN: Saturdays; April 11 and 18
9 AM to 2:30 PM
