Port of Vancouver USA

Connecting you with what's happening at the Port of Vancouver USA

Do you belong to an organization that appreciates being kept up to date on what's happening in our community? Do you live in our taxing district and wonder how the port is using three percent of your property taxes to bring new businesses and new jobs to Southwest Washington?

Consider inviting a port representative to speak to your community group or neighborhood association. As a global hub for trade and a center of industry for Clark County, the Port of Vancouver's mission is to provide economic benefit to our community; and we're committed to keeping you informed as we do our best to grow jobs and build a stronger, more vibrant economy.

Our speakers bureau program offers experienced, informative speakers ready to talk with you about important port issues and projects. Topics include:

- Our marine terminals and industrial facilities that employ 2,300 people, most of whom live in our community
- Our major capital investments such as the West Vancouver Freight Access project that when complete in 2017 will reduce current congestion on the regional rail system by as much as 40 percent
- Our major imports including wind turbines, Subaru cars and wood pulp
- The private-sector investments currently in the works, including expansion of the port's grain terminal and selection of the port's Terminal 5 as the preferred site for a new potash export facility
- Our major exports including wheat, scrap steel and Freightliner trucks
- Our commitment to protecting the environment and being good stewards of our facilities and the surrounding area
