INSTRUCTIONS FOR COMPLETING SECTION V (INCOME) OF THIS FORM

All gross income, from whatever source, of the claimant, his or her spouse, and any co-tenant must be reported. Income should be reported for the assessment year. This includes income that does not have to be reported to the Internal Revenue Service (IRS). Co-tenant is a person who has ownership interest in the house and resides there.

1. Include all Social Security benefits before part B Medicare deduction. All pensions, including railroad retirement benefits, retirement bonds, IRA, and Keogh distributions and annuities must be reported as income.
2. Military pay and retirement other than attendant care and medical aid payments, veterans' benefits other than attendant care and medical aid payments must be reported.
3. All salaries, wages, tips and consulting fees or speaker fees must be reported.
4. Income received from trust, royalties, partnerships or estates must be reported.
5. Income received from unemployment benefits, public assistance, alimony or other annuities must be reported. An annuity is a payment of a fixed sum of money received at regular intervals. Some examples of annuities are the proceeds of life insurance contracts or disability payments. Do not include payments received on behalf of dependent children.
6. All interest and dividends received by you must be reported as income. This includes interest and dividends not taxable to the IRS.
7. You are not allowed to deduct depreciation as a business or farm expense or deduct a business or farm loss from other income. Determine your business or farm income without a deduction for depreciation. If, after eliminating depreciation, the business or farm shows a loss, enter zero on line 7.
8. Income received from rental properties or other investments must be included before a deduction for depreciation. If, after eliminating depreciation, the investment shows a loss, enter zero on line 8.
9. Capital gains must be reported as income except the portion of gain resulting from the sale of your principal residence that is reinvested in a replacement principal residence.
10. Any income not reported on the previous lines should be reported here.
11. You may deduct from your income, non-reimbursed nursing home costs incurred by you, your spouse, or co-tenant.
12. You may deduct from your income, the non-reimbursed cost paid for the care of you, your spouse or co-tenant for treatment or care received in your home. In-home care or assistance means medical treatment or care received in the home; items such as food, oxygen, or meals on wheels that are part of a necessary or appropriate in-home service; special needs furniture or attendant care and light housekeeping tasks. Payments for in-home care must be reasonable and at a rate comparable to those paid for similar services in the same area. The person providing the care or treatment does not have to be specially licensed.
13. You may deduct the cost of non-reimbursed amounts paid for prescription drugs.

The Assessor may request verification of income and deduction amounts.

IX I affirm I am aware that any deferred special assessments and/or real property taxes, plus interest, are a lien upon this property. This lien becomes due and payable upon occurrence of any of the following conditions:

1. Upon the sale or transfer of this property.
2. Upon the death of the claimant except when the surviving spouse, if qualified, elects to continue the deferment. Such spouse must file an original claim for deferral within ninety (90) days of the date of death.
3. Upon condemnation of this property by a public or private body exercising the power of eminent domain, except as otherwise provided in RCW 84.60.070.
4. At such time that the claimant ceases to reside permanently in this residence.
5. Upon the failure of the claimant to keep in force fire and casualty insurance in sufficient amount to protect the interest of this state, unless the deferred amount does not exceed the claimant's equity value in the land or lot only.

I swear under the penalties of perjury that all of the foregoing statements as marked are true.
